PETER BOOME

About the Artist

Peter Boome was born in McCleary, Washington and is an Upper Skagit Tribal artist specializing in Coast Salish art. Peter earned his AA from Northwest Indian College, his BA from the Evergreen State College and his JD from the University of Washington School of Law. He is currently finishing his Master's of Environmental Studies at Evergreen State College. His work has won numerous awards and is collected internationally. On display are hand-carved objects, serigraphs and painted canvases.

Boome's work reflects the culture and experiences of indigenous peoples of the northwest coast with a specific emphasis on the environment and human relationship with the natural world. He currently resides in University Place with his wife Lois and their children.
